25. Read the sentences. Choose the correct answer. Psychologists are frequently innovators, inventing new approaches to people and societies. They develop theories and test them in their research as they collect new information, these findings can be used by practitioners in their work with clients and patients. As practitioners psychologists work in laboratories, hospitals, court rooms, schools and universities, prisons and corporate offices. They work with business executives, performers, and athletes to reduce stress and improve performance. They advise lawyers on jury, selection and cooperate with educators on school reform. Immediately following a disaster, such as a plane crush or bombing, psychologists help victims and bystanders recover from the shock of the event. What do the psychologists as practitioners do?

- 26. Read the sentences. There are many careers in psychology. Psychology includes both research, through which we learn fundamental things about human and animal behavior, and practice, through which that knowledge is applied in helping people to solve problems. Psychology is an extremely varied field. Psychologists conduct research, serve as consultants, diagnose and treat people, and teach future psychologists and other types of students. They test intelligence and personality. Choose the correct answer.
- 27. Read the text and answer the question. How to Resolve Conflict This advice is aimed primarily at resolving differences between individuals, small groups and organisations, but many of the same principles apply to the resolution of conflict between communities and even nations. The important thing is to keep damaging conflict to a minimum and, when it does occur, use the relevant techniques to resolve or at least ease it. The target audience of the advice is:
- 28. Read the text and answer the question. The Magic of Positive Thinking A pleasant smile is a strong indication of a friendly and open attitude and a willingness to communicate. It is a positive, nonverbal signal sent with the hope that the other person will smile back. When you smile, you demonstrate that you have noticed the person in a positive manner. The other person considers it a compliment and will usually feel good. The result? The other person will usually smileback. Smiling does not mean that you have to put on a phony face or pretend that you are happy all of the time. But when you see someone you know, or would like to make contact with, do smile. By smiling, you are demonstrating an open attitude to conversation. What is considered to be a non-verbal signal?
- 29. Read the text and answer the question: Psychologists observe and record how people and other animals relate to one another and to the environment. They look for patterns that will help them understand and predict behaviour, and they use scientific methods to test their ideas. Through such studies, psychologists have learned much that can help people fulfill their potential as human beings and increase understanding between individuals, groups, nations, and cultures. Do the psychologists use the same methods as specialists in other sciences?
- 30. Read the text and answer the question: The research findings of psychologists have greatly increased our understanding of why people behave as they do. For example, psychologists have discovered much about how personality develops and how to promote healthy development. They have some knowledge of how to help people change bad habits and how to help students learn. They understand some of the conditions that can make workers more productive. A great deal remains to be discovered. Nevertheless, insights provided by psychology can help people function better as individuals, friends, family members, and workers. Does the psychology as a science increase understanding between individuals, groups, nations, and cultures?
